

DEMOCRATS TAKE UP QUESTION OF TARIFF NEXT WEEK

Administration Members of Ways and Means Committee Plan Meeting.

TO DISCUSS INCOME TAX

Retention of a Duty on Sugar and Creation of Tax Board Considered.

Democratic members of the Ways and Means Committee will meet next week to discuss the revenue situation. After conferences among the party leaders, including the President, the majority members of the committee have before them a program calling for:

A revised income tax.

Retention of a duty on sugar.

Creation of a tariff commission.

Enactment of anti-dumping legislation.

There probably will be discussion of an inheritance tax and an internal revenue levy on war munitions, but these suggestions are not likely to reach the legislative stage. The income tax will be the principal revenue producer for the Democrats and will be amended to bring in about $100,000,000 additional.

Must Retain Duty.

Retention of a duty on sugar is regarded as imperative in view of the present condition of the Treasury and the continued falling off in imports. That the President approves the creation of a tariff commission and legislation to prevent the "dumping" of foreign goods on American shores after the war has been made known to Administration leaders.

Majority Leader Kitchin said today that a party caucus will be held eventually on the revenue bill. Whether or not such a bill will include semi-protective rates for the dyestuffs industry has not yet been determined. The committee is at present "up in the air" over the dyestuffs problem.

The preparedness bills will be non-partisan and not subject to caucus action, but the revenue bills are matters of Democratic policy and responsibility, will be subjected to the caucus procedure with a limited exception of solid Democratic support.

Might Have Excise Tax.

The proposed taxation of war munitions, leaders said today, will be in the form of an excise tax if at all. It is opposed chiefly as uncertain and unstable because cessation of war would stop both sales and taxes.

Opposition has developed against lowering the income tax, exemption limits. Leaders and rank and file, however, are unanimous in planning increase of surtaxes on larger incomes. But many are opposed to taxing smaller incomes than those now reached.

Early action on the tariff commission is planned. A separate bill will probably be reported. Indications today are that the committee will be empowered merely to collect information and become practically a bureau, to report to Congress, and not to the President, but without power to make any revenue revision recommendations.

Despite the President's approval of the tariff commission plan, many Democrats today indicate a strong opposition. The so-called "Independent" wing is already privately insubordinating.

WIFE'S DIVORCE PLEA LIKE HERRICK NOVEL

Her Story Will Win Decree From Chicago University Author, Court Indicates.

CHICAGO, Jan. 26.—The divorce suit of Mrs. Harriet H. Herrick against Robert Herrick, novelist and professor of English in the University of Chicago, resembles "The Woman's Life," his latest novel. Judge McDonald in the superior court indicated that he would grant Mrs. Herrick a divorce.

Robert M. Herrick, a professor in the university and a mutual friend of the Herricks for twenty-five years, was a witness.

"Why did they separate?" asked the court.

"Oh, financial, social and various other things," the witness replied. "Just a case of incompatibility."

Mrs. Herrick said they were married June 9, 1912. "We went to Newport in 1912," she testified, "and Mr. Herrick went away. He sent Mr. Lovett to tell me I should not worry about him. I saw my husband again in September, and he told me I could go where I pleased and do whatever I wished. I went to Boston and later returned and saw Mr. Herrick in Chicago at a hotel in February, 1915. That day he came into my room and said, 'I can never live with you again under any circumstances.'"

"Then he left and I have never seen him since," she testified.

Mrs. Herrick said she and her husband had entered into a contract providing that each should have custody of their sixteen-year-old son, Philip A. Herrick, at certain times.

The Herricks are cousins. They were married in Milwaukee, Wis., to escape the Illinois marriage laws prohibiting the intermarriage of cousins.

Hickey, who died Monday, will be held at the residence, 1216 Florida avenue, northwest, tomorrow at 8:30 o'clock, thence to St. Patrick's Catholic Church, Fifteenth and V streets northwest, where requiem mass will be celebrated at 9 o'clock by the Rev. Miss Hickey was born in Washington, D. C., and resided here all her life. She was prominently identified with the Catholic church circles and was an active member of the society of the Blessed Virgin Mary of St. Patrick's church. Members of the latter society visited the home of the deceased last evening and conducted the ritual of the society.

TRIBUTE TO HIS FRIEND

Capt. Jack Crawford, who delivers daily at the Strand Theater an interesting lecture in connection with the wonderful "Battle Cry of Peace" pictures, has written the following lines "In Memoriam of My Friend and Brother, Orlando F. Smith."

He was my friend, my brother brave and true,
He wore the Johnny Gray, I wore the blue.
He was a prince of manly men, and he
Was true to his Virginia as was Lee.

He believed that he was right; and every true
Heroic brave who wore the Union Blue
Respects and honors those who stood and fell
For principle mid rain of shot and shell.

He was my brother Elk, together we
Upheld the Starry Emblem of the free—
Together stood for principles sublime
Where Justice and Fidelity combine.

And when his broncho friend, the Poet Scout,
Answers, too, and has been counted out—
May we not meet again with comrades true
Who wore the Johnny Gray and Union Blue?

HARPIST RECITAL AT LIBRARY FOR BLIND

Miss Maude E. Clark and Melville A. Clark Play to an Appreciative Audience.

The National Library for the Blind, at 122 H street northwest, was host this morning to its board of directors and to the blind at a musicale given by Miss Maude E. Clark and Melville A. Clark, harpists, whose performance was a feature of the diplomatic dinner at the White House last night.

A number which seemed to appeal strikingly to the audience was Miss Clark's rendering of "The Wooden Shoes" by Rogers, in which the clatter of sabots on a pavement is represented by the notes of the harp. Her other numbers included "Winter," by Thomas; "Fantasia in B major," by Alvaris; and "Dance of the Sylphs," by Godofredo. Several friends, including "The Wearing of the Green," and Scotch war songs in recognition of the birthday of Robert Burns, which was yesterday's featured Mr. Clark's performance. He also played "A Song Without Words," by Heinkel; "Patrouille," by Hasselmann; and the "Prayer by Moses in Egypt," by Albert.

Prior to the performance, Mr. Clark outlined the development of the harp from the time of its invention, noting especially the recent addition of a forepillar to the small harp, which greatly increases the range of its tone.

S.P.C.A. OUGHT TO GET AFTER BLACK MAGIC

"Professor" in Difficulties With Postoffice After Explaining Invisibilty.

CHICAGO, Jan. 26.—"Black Magic" teaches possession to perform miracles, according to its high priest, Dr. P. Angier. Postoffice Inspector D. F. Angier was curious when he read that, and he ordered the book, "The Woman's Life," by Robert M. Herrick, to be turned over to the authorities.

If you would like to become invisible, according to his plan, here is the secret: "Catch a black cat while it is walking toward the setting sun. Cut off its left ear with a sharp razor. Then, if you are a tree growing in a graveyard, then go without speaking to anyone and maintain silence until the following day. Break upon arising the candidate for invisibility must walk toward the rising sun until he meets the cat whose ear he has cut off. Then he must hold the two ears joined and certain magic words are repeated until the ears become invisible. He will remain invisible as long as the ear tips touch."

SUFFRAGIST SEIZES ALLEGED ANNOYER

Holds Him Until Police Come and Says She Will Prosecute Him.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—Mrs. Gertrude Gardiner Eggleston, of 343 West Fifty-seventh street, widow of a former United States army officer, followed Charles R. King, of 43 West Fortieth street, who she alleged had been at a Broadway and Thirty-fifth street. She caught up to him in the crowd and seized him by the coat collar.

"You're under arrest," she shouted, "police! Help!"

Patrolman Kelly took King to the West Thirtieth street police station, where Mrs. Eggleston said he had pushed her aside and abused and insulted her as he left the car.

"All men should act as gentlemen in public conveyances," declared Mrs. Eggleston. "I am a suffragist, and I believe it is my duty to prosecute this fellow who has so grossly insulted me."

King said he never saw Mrs. Eggleston until she grabbed him. He was locked up, charged with disorderly conduct.

JAPANESE ARE MADE MILLIONAIRES BY WAR

Undreamed of Riches Brought to Mikado's Realm by Conflagration in Europe.

TOKYO, Jan. 8 (by mail).—The European war has brought undreamed of prosperity to Japan. Evidence of this is found not only in the enormous increase in the gold reserve, but in the fact that the Japanese newspapers are busy chronicling the rise of many new-made millionaires, who plunged early in the war and emerged with riches.

The leading shipyards of Japan have filled orders which will keep them busy for three years. Thanks to the withdrawal of German vessels, Japanese shipping is enjoying the greatest prosperity in its history. Shipping men are predicting that Japan will in a few years have a mercantile marine second only to that of England. They believe, too, that shipbuilding is destined to become a great national industry in Japan.

A Japanese named Nobuo Uchida, who at the outbreak of the war was a clerk, saw that a naval war meant a golden harvest for shipping. He left his desk and launched a shipping business, chartering small vessels. Now he owns four vessels and has cleared more than $1,000,000.

In Tokyo the Yamashita Shipping Company, controlled by a business man of that name, has netted $3,500,000. Japan's gold reserve has increased by $50,000,000. She now has in reserve $250,000,000.

Her Plea for Man Stirs Wellesley

Woman's College Roused Over Anonymous Verses in Students' Paper.

WELLESLEY, Mass., Jan. 26.—Wellesley College girls are very much disturbed over the verses of a senior, whose name Miss Miriam Vidler, editor of the College News, refuses to divulge, but who in last week's issue called loudly in poetry for a man. Two verses are:

I'd give my month's allowance for a man,
Or, having spent it, I'll give up what I can.
For what is prom without a young recruit?
A tall Apollo in a full dress suit,
To plot down the revealing line,
While your proprietary smile says "He's mine?"

And yet I've reached the end of my resources;
I cannot find a man by human forces.
If you have a corner on the brand of That known as Homer's Sappho, my demand,
Must move your stony heart until it grants.

A single man—no need for "aspiens" if he dares!

"The verses cast suspicion on all of us," said one senior, who has a flock of young men in her train.

The names of successful candidates will be placed on an eligible list, from which appointments will be made from time to time as vacancies occur. The initial appointment will be made to class 5 in the secretarial corps.

FILIPINO FREEDOM IN FIVE YEARS IS URGED

Amendment to Philippine Measure Presented by Hitchcock, Administration Leader.

Senator Hitchcock, Administration leader on the Philippine bill, presented an amendment today, providing for independence for the Filipinos in five years. Several similar amendments are pending.

Senator Jones of Washington attacked the bill on the ground that it should not be a promise of independence which future Congresses might not care to carry out.

Moss to Be Operated On.

Congressman Moss, of West Virginia, will be operated upon tomorrow for stomach trouble at John Hopkins hospital, Baltimore.

THEY WOULD BE ADMIRABLE, SAYS NOTED PRIEST

They Would Be Admirable, Says Noted Priest.

LONDON, Jan. 26.—In a speech at the Mansion House Father Bernard Vaughan said that if Prussianism Germany would play the game according to the rules laid down by international law, he thought it would command the admiration as well as the respect of Englishmen; but the Germans had failed to play the game.

"Our business," he cried, vehemently, "is to keep on killing Germans! Somebody has to be killed, and do you think we ought to be killed in view of the motive we have gone forth to fight for? I say we have to kill a sufficient number of that tremendous army, so as to entitle us to dictate terms of a peace that shall be rooted in a victory to be heard and shouted from Paris to this mammoth metropolis."

Referring to the reports of German atrocities, he said, he was sometimes told that the newspapers were exaggerating. His answer was that if the Germans had not done what was new-made millionaires, who plunged early in the war and emerged with riches.

WATER POWER ACT URGED BY GARRISON

War Secretary Says Department Should Be Given Authority to Issue Permits.

Secretary of War Garrison appeared before the House Committee on Interstate Commerce today in advocacy of legislation for the development of water-power on navigable streams that are under the jurisdiction of the Federal Government.

The present "general dam act," he said, is rather a deterrent to investors and hampers the development of hydroelectric power. The act grants and indefinite privilege accorded under the existing law, the Secretary said, makes capital wary.

Mr. Garrison stated that water-power development has a national defense value. He argued that by the fixation of water rights, the Federal Government could secure a source of agricultural fertilizers as well as explosives may be encouraged by water-power development.

That name, he said, was told that the War Department should be given authority to issue development permits on navigable streams that are under the jurisdiction of the Federal Government.

Davis Tennis Cup Sought by Police

No Clue to International Trophy Stolen, With Others, from H. K. Hackett's Room.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—Among the sixteen tennis trophies stolen from the rooms of Harold H. Hackett, according to a police announcement, was the Davis Cup, the highest international prize. With the fifteen other cups and trophies of tennis matches of less renown, the Davis Cup has disappeared and the police and agency detectives declared they were without even the slightest clue.

Mr. Hackett went to Atlantic City New Year Day and returned the following Monday. He found his room he saw that all the trophies were gone from a case. He soon found that thirty-six other trophies, including the bag and other pieces of jewelry, and a suit case and a black leather bag were missing.

Although the police, who were called upon immediately, said the thief probably had carried the cups and other trophies to the hotel management and employees said they had seen no one near Mr. Hackett's rooms. Several of the stolen cups had been won by Frederick B. Alexander and Raymond Little and had been left in Mr. Hackett's care.

Save Cake for Their Boy Who Went to War in '99

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Jan. 26.—Though the suspicion grows that a soft-boiled bullet and an African veldt may hold the secret of their boy's failure to return from the Boer war, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Hackett, of 1010 Broadway, unwrapped or thrown away the little English plum pudding that they made for his Christmas dinner when he was a boy. The pudding, his favorite dish, reposes in a bureau waiting his return.

The son's name is John Rice, and although his name is all his father's, he was an adult when he went to war in behalf of his father's country. His name never appeared among those of the dead and wounded.

The story of the watchful waiting parents became known when William Rice took presents to Mrs. Rice, who is at St. Paul City Hospital because of a broken leg. The last word from John was received in 1899, and came on a postal card.

Garage Owners to Oppose Tax on Motors and Gas

CHICAGO, Jan. 26.—The 1 cent per gallon tax on gasoline and the 50 cents per horsepower tax on automobiles suggested in President Wilson's last message to Congress, will be attacked by the Associated Garage Owners of America in their second annual convention in Chicago today and tomorrow, according to E. J. McGuirk, national organizer.

The convention is being held at the Chicago automobile show, which is being held at the same time. The United States are expected to be held. The meeting was preceded by sessions of the Garage Owners' Association of Illinois, an allied organization.
